Her testimony inspired students to challenge misconceptions and foster compassion for individuals living with HIV/AIDS.

Students actively participated by asking questions and seeking clarifications on various aspects of HIV/AIDS. Peter Borges once again highlighted the relevance of concepts like PrPH (Prevention of parent-to-child transmission) and PPH (Prevention of Partner-to-Partner Transmission), highlighting their significance in our society's efforts to combat HIV/AIDS. He also discussed the role of community-based organizations in providing support and advocating for the rights of individuals affected by HIV/AIDS.

The program concluded with a deeper understanding of HIV/AIDS among the students, fostering empathy, and a commitment to spreading awareness and combating stigma surrounding the disease.
